

Re: Fw: parenting not trending.

[REDACTED]
Sat 25/06/2016 2:16 PM

GHDA [REDACTED] thought I WOULD TAKE A CHANCE YOU MAY GET THIS...CHEERS MR B

[REDACTED].....
FOR WHAT ITS WORTH.....

Subject: Parenting not trending.

PARENTING FOR ALL IS ALWAYS IN UNCALCULABLE CHALLENGING, CHANGING CIRCUMSTANCES...

A FACT...Biologically the boy/child/toddler would grow up to be a man ..A girl child/toddler would grow up to be a woman ..even a babe in the womb would have that expectation..

Then despite or because of all the trifle, short/long term useless or trendy ignorant advice or good caring love , advice, they will make a choice of their own that will determine what they want to be as a woman or a man in a great 25 year trial/journey and a lot of bullshit.

A labour of love or inconvenience, patience, persistence or a choice of honour for a good parent or family.....whatever the circumstances.

The child will choose as an adult or teenager to become as a woman or man all or some of.....
Strong, intelligent, stupid, sporty, studious, dangerous, modest, caring, tolerant, a listener, not narrow or narrow, compassionate, calm, reliable, imposing understanding, gay, brave, respectful, good manners, a leader, fair, truthful or highly dishonest and manipulative, naughty, lazy and many more. They will make their own decisions from parental and family and friends example following hopefully the opportunity to be a child, not complicated and confused with adult trends and bias or cohered in the shadow of fools and their growing human contact and environment or as a free loader as exemplified by the lazy dirty freeloading dolly dogs.

<https://outlook.live.com/owa/?viewmodel=ReadMessageItem&ItemID=AOMkADAw...> 28/06/2016

A woman a man a biological fact for millions of years for all life now traded for yuppy short term changing trends imposed on every new generation and.....so on.

A PARENT

Before birth you are probably wishing in them/for them good health, polite , good manners and intelligence.

At 2 to 5 they test parents almost every waking moment.

At 13 to 18 don't want their parents around in public...Abhor the parent exists and know and want everything good and bad...

Always advise your kids to never be afraid to ask and always communicate like it or not. Encourage honest independence and imagination.

At around fifteen the need to learn and hone self respect as against self interest only and self pity...

At 15 to 22 know everything but generally still have to ask where their socks are each day!!

At 25 probably still living with you having maybe left home and come back again and learnt how to free load from the dog and cat...

Beware of party tricks and glossy trends which can leave a life fractured in their dust...

Then when at 30 to 50 little time for you the nuisance unless maybe a good inheritance probable..

A good way to get attention from both parent and child is whine a lot like the dog, fake illness and jump on the fake mental illness trail like the "nerves" trend was in the fifties and sixties mmmm.

Make sure what ever the parenting circumstances, you are still around in support of the full journey not just the fluff and celebration of birth.. especially the 13 to 25 year period..

All the good advice will be absorbed and stored even though they appear at the time to ignore you and your often repeated good advice and warnings.

When your kids are around thirty they are expert but often know all... know nothing! As you grow older words of life wisdom ring in their ears and shabby trends dissolve if they are lucky and follow some good direction and don't fall for false moments.

Often the best moment with them is when you learn when to say nothing as you wish they would some days.

Your kids are only as good as they are today, make sure you are focused every day on your responsibilities and important observations.. be there ..any time, anywhere.. when asked for help.

If you lose sight of the ball all can fall in a moment though not even your doing but because of the ills temptations or wank trends around you and your kids.. Hone your skills of observing signs early..

Big epidemic now.. Toddlers/kids parents run away, leave kids with grandparents take dog easier to look after till they dump the dog..to hard.. and followed dog role model sadly..

Do not tell your kids all their lives how good they are without moments of them earning that respect.

Every parents circumstances different and no child raised exactly the same as another.

And of course if you don't impose to much on your kids in seriously later life they may care a little for you in your old moments...who knows.

Now at 74 I have done more than enough...I owe nothing to anyone..

ALONG THE WAY THOUGH THEY CAN BE MORE FUN THAN A BARRELL OF BANDICOOTS AND BRING YOU GREAT JOY AND PRIDE AMONGST THE OFTEN ANGST..

GOOOOOOOOOOOOD LUCK.

 .....